SAD POSITION OF THE MAN WHO WAS TO BEAT CHARLES L. HENRY.

Only 104 People Out to Hear Him in His Own County-Muncie Glass Men Will "Quiz" Mr. Bryan.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

FRANKTON, Ind., Oct. 20 .- Hon John R. Brunt, the Popocratic candidate for Congress, spoke here yesterday. There was no enthusiasm and 104 persons made up his audience at the opera house. Of these fifty were Republican women and children. No such chilly reception was ever given to a candidate for Congress in this county. The Democrats say that they could not get their crowd out because Brunt was a Populist. On last Friday Dr. J. W. Younge, of Fort Wayne, spoke here and the Demo-crats made that day the occasion of the greatest rally they have held this year.

GOOD REPUBLICAN NEWS.

Bartholomew County Will Give a Majority for McKinley.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. COLUMBUS, Ind., Oct. 20 .- From present indications this county, Bartholomew, will go Republican at the coming election. The Republican managers claim the county by at least 200 majority, of which 150 will be in this city and 50 in the outlying districts. Their claim is admitted by many prominent Democrats as having good foundation. One Democrat in particular, who was once a candidate for Congress from this district, said he believed the county would give 300 majority for McKinley. The county has been Democratic for many years. There are a great many bolting Democrats in this city and county. M. T. Reeves, S. C. Reeves and M. O. Reeves, of the firms of Reeves & Co. and the Reeves Pulley Company, who have heretofore been strong Democrats, will vote for McKinley and Sulzer. The firm of Reeves & Co., which manufactures farm implements, employs about three hundred men when running full force, and the Reeves Pulley Company, both state that they will shut down if Bryan is elected for want of orders. W. W. Mooney, of the firm of Mooney & Sons, proprietors of the largest tannery in the West, will vote the Republican ticket for the first time. Many Republican ticket for the first time. Many others could be mentioned. The soundmoney sentiment is strong in the southern part of the county. B. F. Kobbe, a former Democratic Representative, is a leader in Wayne township, and is strongly in favor of sound money. His constituents will in all probability vote for McKinley.

Hon. John W. Linck, of Madison, made a strong Republican speech at Azalia last night. This place is a Quaker settlement and there are but thirteen Democrats in the township. It is the home of Washing-ton Polen, out of whose family of children and grandchildren there are thirty-eight voters, thirty-five of whom will vote for McKinley. A. H. Roberts, colored, spoke to a crowded house here this evening. His speech was logical and his argument convincing.

Hunt's Big Meeting at Newburg.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. NEWBURG, Ind., Oct. 20.-This little city witnessed Saturday night one of the most successful political demonstrations of the campaign. Hon. Union B. Hunt. of Winchester, had been billed to speak for the Dundee, this county. One of the boys Republicans, and, thinking they could divide the crowd, the Popocrats appointed a meeting for the same time, but now they wish they hadn't. At no time did their speaker have more than seventy-five people, while Mr. Hunt was listened to by a thousand, and that many more went home being unable to gain admittance to the hall The Republi ans had a torchlight procession with 400 horsemen, decorated wagons and a large number of bicyclists, also bearing torches, in line. Mr. Hunt spoke for two hours and fifteen minutes and was cheered to the echo, especially when he de-fended Congressman Hemenway from the attacks made on him by ex-Congress-man A. H. Taylor. Mr. Hemenway lives in this (Warrick) county, and the eulogy of him was highly appreciated. Mr. Hunt has been making a series of speeches in this county, and people who had heard him be-fore came twenty miles to hear him at this the close of the meeting audience, which was carried away with Mr. Hunt's logic and eloquence, gave him three rousing cheers, and also gave three cheers for Warrick county's favorite son, James

He was handicapped from the fact that only a handfull | cratic ticket. of free-silverites were present, while the rest of his audience was made up of Republicans and women, who came out to hear him through curiosity. True to the instincts of the party with which the speaker is training this year, the burden of his talk was against the "Shylocks of Lombard and Wall streets, who have their heels on the neck of the farmers and are crushing them deeper and deeper into the dregs of poverty." He paid his respects to the great crime of 1873 and its culmination in 1893. He claimed that to this great crime was due the low prices of farm products. He failed to say anything about the jump of four cents a bushel in the price of wheat during the day, for he knew if he touched on the inexorable law of supply and demand all his argument in favor of free coinage of silver would be knocked out. The speaker did not change the mind of a single Republican present.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PLAINFIELD, Ind., Oct. 20 .- To-day has been a great day for the quaint old Quaker village of Plainfield. Thousands of people have thronged the streets from early morning till late at night. The occasion for all this demonstration was a monster Republican rally. The first speech of the day was made by Hon. John B. Cockrum, of Indianapolis, who for nearly two hours had the undivided attention of one of the largest audiences that has listened to a political speech in this place for years. He dwelt at length on the free-silver fraud from a business standpoint. At the close of Mr. Cockrum's address a beautiful Mc Kinley and Hobart pole, standing 112 feet high, was raised amid great cheering and the beating of drums. This was followed by a short address by William P. Reagan, of Marion county. In his matter-of-fact way he presented the evils of the freesilver doctrine. Large delegations here from Danville. Early in the evening there was a parade headed by a martial band, which escorted Mr. Lambertson to the opera house. Seated on the stage were many of the speaker's old friends, including a number of the Franklin College faculty. Mr. Lambertson's argument for sound money was clear and logical, and his appeal to patriotism was strong and effective, especially in his talk to old-line Democrats.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 20.-Hon. B. F. In addition to ex-President Harrison's speech to about four thousand people at the station to-day, Judge A. O. Marsh, of Winchester, this afternoon addressed a large assemblage of Republicans and sympathizers at an open-air meeting in the courthouse yard. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DECATUR, Ind., Oct. 20.-The wife of Shelby Henderson, a liveryman of this city, became suddenly deranged this morning and attempted to murder her child and husband. She poured coal oil over a bed, threw their two-year-old child on it and then set fire to the bed clothing. The father grabbed the child from the burning bed and took it to another room, then returned and extinguished the flames. Later the mother again secured the child and was in the act of throwing it in a cistern when the father came to the rescue and took the child to a neighbor's. She then declared she would kill her husband, who fled from the house. Thristing for a desire to kill both child and husband she came down street barefooted and lightly clad, swearing and screaming. She rushed through the streets, and when last seen was running along the road east of town. Domestic trouble is given as the cause of the woman's actions.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. HARTFORD, Ind., Oct. 20 .- Jacob M. Schisler, who was elected city treasurer last spring, but who has never been able to secure the office from the present treasurer, E. I. Winters, has instituted quo warranto proceedings in the Circuit Court to have him ousted. Winters was elected at the first election after the town became a city. The day of the election came a week or so later than the day on which elections were held by law and it has since been a question whether the officers should hold for four years, the same as if they had been elected at a regular elec tion, or whether they should hold only until the next general election. After the spring election all the old officers gave way for the newly-elected men except Winters. He claimed that he was entitled to hold two years longer. Schisler started proceedings in the last term of court to oust Winters, but they were unavailing. Schisler is now of the opinion that Win ter's term of office expired Sept. 1, 1896.

Mr. Bryan's Two Dollars. Philadelphia Telegraph.

Bryan's two dollars came into collision in Michigan last Thursday with disastrous results. The Bryanite dollar in the West is a gold dollar cut in half. Gold has appreciated, according to the Western theory and the gold dollar is too dear, costs too much and buys too much. The Western people are to have a cheaper dollar to pay their debts with and to that end the present standard is to be cut down one-half. In the East, on the other hand, the Bryanite dollar is the silver dollar, doubled in value. The "crime of '73" demonetized silver and destroyed half its value. The silver and destroyed half its value. The mission of the Bryanites is to "restore" this value and make silver worth $1.25 per ounce instead of 63 cents, as at present. It has been only by the sharpest kind of thimble-rigging that Mr. Bryan has kept his two dollars in separate pockets, so they wouldn't interfere with each other, and his success, so far has been creditable to his dexterity, if not to his honesty. On Thursdexterity, if not to his honesty. On Thursday last, however, in making his steenth speech for the day in one of the little Michigan towns, he apparently got confused in his mind and mixed those two dollars up in the most disastrous fashion. He started with the gold dollar too dear and the silver dollar too cheap, all right enough, but before he got through he had

WEYLER BLUNDERED. Facts in Regard to the Attempt to

Search the Vigilancia. WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 .- It is stated by officials that the reports coming from New Orleans as to an exciting controversy at Havana between Gen, Fitzhugh Lee, consulgeneral, and General Weyler over the attempted apprehension of a Mexican named Fernandez on board the American ship Vigilancia, give an unwarranted significance and importance to the event. The facts as reported are substantially these: General Weyler ordered the arrest of Fernandez as a suspect, not knowing at the time of the issuance of the order that he was on board an American ship. Later, General Lee notified the Spanish authorities that the Vigilancia was an American ship, which, under our treaty rights, had an immunity from search and seizure for suspects in transit to other perts. General Weyler promptly acceded to the position taken by General Lee, and the affair ended. No protests or claims were submitted to Washington by either side. It is said positively that reports that General Weyler ever contemplated firing on the Vigilancia or trained the guns on the ship are in-The doctrine maintained by the United States in cases like that of Fernandez is that any foreign ship not a national vessel or man of war, entering a port subjects herself to the local laws of the place. Con-sequently, if there should be on board a fugitive from justice he can be reclaimed by the local officers, providing it is done strictly according to due process of law. It is in just this proviso that Fernandez found safety, and in this his case is a parallel to that of the American merchant, amuel Tolon, who was taken off an American steamer at Havana, but afterwards was released by the Spanish officials on Consul-general Lee's demand. In Tolon's case the Spaniards failed to follow due process of law, but arrested the man military process, and it is supposed from the press reports that this was attempted Fernandez's case. Captain Weyler has all along maintained that the operations of civil law were entirely suspended in Cuba during the progress of the rebellion, and that martial law reigned su-preme. Under this construction he arrested Tolon, and doubtless attempted to arrest But the United States taken the contrary position, and in this has been sustained by the superior authorities at Madrid, who beyond question foresaw that if they supported Weyler's contention it would amount to such an admission of a state of actual war as would not permit of the further delay of recognition by foreign powers, and perhaps of even the graver steps of formal recognition of the ndependence of the insurgents. Therefore the only manner in which Fernandez could have been held by Weyler would have been under civil process, and it is assumed that either he had no opportunity to complete the necessary formalities or found him-self lacking in the proof that would be required to sustain his case before the civil courts of Cuba.

GENERAL WASHINGTON NEWS.

Bishop Keane Not a Candidate for Re-Election as Rector. WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 .- Many of the archbishops and directors of the Catholic University are already in Washington to attend the meeting to-morrow and Thursday. Several points relative to the vacancy in the rectorship of the university have already been settled in advance of the meeting of the directors. Bishop Keane by positive and direct letters to his friends has taken his name out of consideration, so that it is assured no effort will be made to nominate him for the place. Bishop Keane informed his friends that even if chosen by the directors and reappointed he would not accept the position. It has also been determined that no bishop will be recommended for rector. It can be stated on good authority that there has been no change in the declared policy of the government with respect Cuba nor is any contemplated. As is well known the sympathies of the administration, as individuals, in a large measure are with the insurgents, but if they gain their independence it will be without any ntervention, other than amicable, on the part of Mr. Cleveland.
